

Jaqueline Yeung (b. 1985)

About

Jaqueline Yeung is a Hong Kong-based artist graduated from Chelsea College of Arts, University of the Arts London. Her works explore the captivating intersection of neurology and art.

Yeung experiences synesthesia, which causes sensory crossovers. Guided by the perceptual phenomenon, she translates sounds into vivid visions, showcasing her unique chromesthesia experiences. With an Interior and spatial design background, Yeung blends traditional and digital mediums to create immersive art experiences that engage the senses and promote well-being. Her work raises awareness of mental health, demonstrating the therapeutic potential of art, technology, and wellness.
